

"Hello, my name is Jeffrey Geer (Jeff) and I'm an incumbent re-running for election to the Woodland Park City Council. I have been on council for almost two years now and look forward to the opportunity to continue to serve you the voter and the City of Woodland Park. My wife Liz, and our son Stewart, have been here since 2020 and we hope you see this place as we do, a special place we are so grateful to call home. So much has changed both locally, and nationally, in just two short years. I'm very proud of the work this existing council has done whether that be maintaining our healthy fund balance reserve to buying the golf course and the huge amount of open space that came with that. We've managed to develop the Meadow Wood Master Plan, the Bergstrom Park Master Plan and the land to make it a reality, as well as, so many other things that will be key to this city's future and your quality of life. The key to all of that though was community engagement. I spoke a lot about that during my first election and I'm so very proud of this community and how it's come together in order to move this community forward. I'm also so very proud of the people that I serve with and the city staff that make this all possible. These relationships and perspectives cannot possibly be measured but they are all vital to the current and future success of Woodland Park. As was the case the first time I ran, I have no special interest groups backing me. I care deeply about inclusiveness and creating a community where all people can feel safe and proudly call home. We have many big challenges ahead of us but the only way we're going to solve them and persevere is together. What will not change though is who I am, and my core values which are rooted in honesty, integrity, and compassion. My door has been, and will always, remain open. While you may not agree with me on an issue or an appointment, please know that I do value your feedback and do my very best to try to learn something from every situation I encounter. In closing, I look forward to continuing to serve the people of Woodland Park and I thank you for your support and your vote."
